

CONSTRUCTIVIST COACHING

Mary Frances

Thurs/Friday, 17th/18th May 2012

Venue: Clarendon Practice 44 Park Road,
Coventry CV1 4LD

These two days have been designed for practitioners in any field with at least an introductory level understanding of Personal Construct Psychology, and an interest in coaching.

Coaching is increasingly seen as a focused and relevant model for working with others on their personal and professional development. We will explore a constructivist approach to coaching, with an emphasis on translating PCP theory and practice into the coaching context.

We will also consider the importance of social constructionist ideas in locating coaching interventions in the context of organisations, systems and social change

.....

The cost will be £120, to include lunch and tea/coffee. There are several hotels/ B&B within walking distance. Coventry Rail station is three minutes walk from the venue. There is a nearby multistory car park.

To book a place (20 available): E Mail: Peter Cummins at:
CCC55@BTINTERNET.COM